Don't Miss Out On The Real Treasure of Christmas

"But Mary treasured up all these things, pondering them in her heart." –Luke 2:19

There is a principle of life that most Americans (and Christians) cherish and follow. And more than any other time of the year, this principle seems to take over at Christmas. The principle is this: The good life is a full life. In other words, the good life is a life packed full with as many experiences as you can possibly have. The good life is life bursting at the seams with all the experiences that life has to offer.

And this principle has a way of driving us subliminally in the run up to Christmas. We want a Christmas packed to the gills. So our December calendars quickly fill up with family get-togethers, company parties, Christmas pageants and plays, Christmas caroling, concerts, those endless trips to the mall, Christmas card writing, TV Christmas special-watching, house decorating, cookie baking, and anything else you can squeeze in.

"But we need all these things..." we think to ourselves. Really? Do we really need all the wear and tear, the stress and the credit card melt-down come January? To our way of thinking once they are a part of how we "do" Christmas, we can't say, "No." Simply because a great Christmas is a full Christmas.

Is it any wonder, then, that our Christmases are more hectic than holy, more exhausting than exhilarating, more painful than joyful? The tragedy is we have robbed ourselves of one of the most precious features of the first Christmas.

Every year we successfully recreate and remember many features of the first Christmas as we listen again to the Christmas Gospels. We recreate and remember baby Jesus, Mary, Joseph, the shepherds and angels. We recreate the stable and manger, sometimes even the animals. But there is one feature of that first Christmas we make impossible for ourselves to receive: the quiet of Christmas.

After the sounds of labor and delivery had fled into the night, quiet reigned supreme on the first Christmas, interrupted only by the angels song of praise. The remainder of that first Christmas was all about quiet and meditation. You can almost see Mary, Joseph, and the shepherds, standing and sitting there in stunned silence, meditating upon the words of the angel: For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, who is Christ the Lord (Luke 2:11).

Probably one of the greatest reasons "Silent Night" is so loved by many millions of people, is simply because it expresses something we long to have but never find on our own: the quiet of Christmas. The silently, how silently the wondrous gift is given that Phillip Brooks expresses in "O Little Town of Bethlehem" is the opportunity to stop, to be quiet, and to meditate on what the birth of Jesus really means. In our silence, we can begin to be like Mary who treasured and pondered what God had done. That is one of the reasons why something stirs in our hearts when we sing of that first silent night when all was calm and all was bright.

Martin Luther, also understood the importance of quiet. He once wrote:

The Christmas Gospel is so clear that there is little need of learned interpretation. It is only necessary to ponder it well, to contemplate it, and to take it completely into your heart. None will derive more benefit from it than they whose hearts hold still and who divest themselves of material considerations and concentrate diligently on it. This lesson is just like [the reflection of] the sun: in a quiet and still pond it can be seen clearly and warms the water powerfully, but in a rushing current it cannot be seen as well nor can it warm up the water as much. So if you wish to be illumined and warmed here, to see God's mercy and wondrous deeds, so that your heart is filled with fire and light and becomes reverent and joyous, then go to where you may be still and impress the picture deep into your heart. You will find no end of wondrous deeds (LW 52:8-9).

Isn't that great advice? If you really want to experience all that Christmas is, then be quiet and still like a pond rather than a rushing stream and go running here and there. That's how you can absorb what God's treasure of His Son is all about in the Christmas Gospel. In our silence and moments of peace, the Holy Spirit works in our hearts and mind directing us to the true meaning of Christmas. That meaning will go beyond the simple truth, Christ is born. It won't stop with the truth that Christ the Savior is born. But the Holy Spirit directs us to the real comfort; that Christ the Savior is born for you, to be the antidote for your sin, to rescue you from everlasting punishment and give you everlasting life. This, as well as much more comes as we quietly ponder the treasure of His birth.

Many will continue thinking and acting as if a good life is a full life and that a good Christmas is a full Christmas. Our God disagrees. He invites us to know that a good Christmas is a quiet Christmas, a quiet Christmas spent meditating upon the riches of Christ. That will bring you lasting joy when the trappings of Christmas are long gone. That will bring you peace, the peace of Christ that passes all understanding. A blessed and quiet Christmas to everyone!

Sunday School Parents Your Help Is Needed!

Students of St. Paul Lutheran Sunday School have begun their practice for their Christmas service, held on Sunday, December 23 at 9:00AM. The title of this year's Sunday School Service is "Saints and Angel Hosts Rejoice". The children have received a printed copy of the Christmas service. Please have your child bring their copy along each Sunday! Parents are encouraged to bring their children regularly during these Sundays, so that the children will be familiar with the hymns, carols and recitations. Parents, your help is needed at home to help your son or daughter with their Christmas pieces. Help them to read it out loud, slowly and clearly and to memorize it.

2019 Church Envelopes

Please check your mailboxes for your 2019 Church Envelopes which will be distributed later this month. Also if you are interested, you can save the congregation the expense of paper envelopes through St. Paul Lutheran Automatic Contributions Program. You can save time and expense from writing and handling checks through this program. Automatic contributions are just like automated or electronic transfers that you may be using with payroll checks, loan payments or monthly bill payments. Automatic contributions is an easier, more secure method to make regular contributions to your congregation through automated gifts. If this sounds like this might be useful, please take a moment to contact the church office at 446-3251 for more information.

Mission Work We Can All Do

“Love Packages” - Love Packages is a Christian ministry that is putting Christian literature and Bibles into the hands of people around the world. Love Packages based in Decatur, Alabama (affiliated with Billy Graham Ministries); is asking Christians across the United States to send Bibles, Sunday School materials, books, etc., that you have at home that you have read or would like to pass along. They are sent on to ministries in many poor countries to distribute freely to people hungry for the Word of God. These are materials that many Christians have which may be collecting dust on shelves. Now it can be repurposed again by being used to reach souls for Christ, encourage and build up the Church, and to cause the light of Christ in dark places. Mission: Love Packages exists to glorify God through the distribution of the Word of God to hungry hearts throughout the world. If you have gently used good Lutheran material at home please consider bringing it to church and place in the box labelled: Love Packages in the church fellowship area.

Winter Book Festival Coming

This coming January-February 2019 St. Paul's Winter Book Festival returns. New this year is the opportunity to vote on a selection you would like to read! Pastor has three choices for this year's festival:

- ◆ "Christ Have Mercy: How To Put Your Faith In Action" by Matthew Harrison @ Bulk Discount through Concordia Publishing House - 272 pages

Mercy—the mercy of Christ to and for us—and our demonstration of that mercy to those within and outside the Body of Christ is the key to the future of the Church, to mission and stewardship, to living our Christian lives together in love and forgiveness, to moving boldly and confidently into the future with courage in the Gospel.—from the Preface

For two thousand years Christians have echoed the pleas of blind men and beggars, "Christ, have mercy!" These words are part of the historic liturgy (the Kyrie) and have been sighed on deathbeds and in sick rooms and after natural and man-made disasters. But what does it mean to ask our Lord and Savior for mercy? And what about Christ's command to be merciful, even as God has been merciful to us? Through Scripture study, real-life experiences, and the writings of Lutheran Church Fathers, Christ Have Mercy urges Christians to consider the innumerable opportunities we have to show mercy—to fellow Christians and to anyone God places in our path. (Includes Study Guide)

- ◆ "Grace Upon Grace: Spirituality For Today" by John W. Kleinig @ Bulk Discount through Concordia Publishing House - 287 pages

Christian spirituality is, quite simply, following Jesus. It is the ordinary life of faith in which we receive Baptism, attend the Divine Service, participate in the Holy Supper, read the Scriptures, pray for ourselves and others, resist temptation, and work with Jesus in our given location here on earth." – from the Introduction

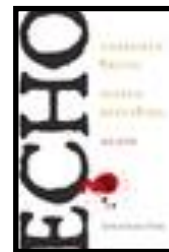

The longing for spiritual fulfillment, inevitably paired with spiritual frustration, is common among Christians. Do we read and study the Bible enough? Do we worship often and in the right way? Do we pray enough, in the correct way, and for the right things? How do we become truly spiritual?

And the answers from numerous self-help spirituality books only lead to confusion and the fear of missing key steps on the road to becoming spiritual. In response, John W. Kleinig clarifies that there is no process for becoming spiritual. Instead, God graciously gives to us every spiritual gift that we need, beginning with the very gift of faith in Christ, our Savior. Because God has joined us to Christ, He continually comes to give us life.

- ◆ "Echo: Unbroken Truth Worth Repeating Again" by Jonathon Fisk @ Bulk Discount through Concordia Publishing House-328 pages

Christianity is not the ability to memorize or recite from books of Scripture or doctrine. It is not magic. It is not social club, counseling group, or self-help support group. It does not promise that you will be healthy, wealthy, wise, or even happy. Christianity is a truth—a truth first heard at the beginning of time that has echoed to this present age. A truth so profound that no man can master it, yet even a child can learn it. Jonathan Fisk introduces his readers to that truth. He lays it out as simply as a child counts to ten on his fingers. Yet, training to hear the Echo, the reader will come to understand the wisdom that Fisk imparts is bottomless. Fisk teaches nothing less than the distilled, unbreakable Christian Echo, the very thing which has radically changed humanity in every nation and tongue that it has ever been repeated. It the most astoundingly complete description of what life is and why it is worth living. And it's worth repeating. Again.

Pastor will have a display of these books hopefully after December 15th. Voting will take place from December 15th through December 31. Once again we will be able to get a Bulk Discount Price if we can get 25 or more copies to be ordered. Watch the bulletin and January/February Newsletter for results of the voting and we should have copies of the book in your hands by early January.

Scrip cards can be purchased on Sunday mornings after both services and are also sold during the week in the Church Office. Orders are placed every Monday morning for cards not kept on hand and are usually ready to be picked up by Wednesday afternoon. If you have any questions regarding the Scrip program or would like to request a card that we don't currently have on hand to be kept on hand, please call the Church Office at 446-3251.
